Springer denied the allegations generally and will reply at length hereafter.

Corruption in High Places.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—At a meeting of the Board of Supervisors last evening, the Judiciary Committee, which had been instructed to take into consideration the utterances and addresses of Mayor Kalloch, and report that proper action be taken by the Board, filed a long report reviewing the history of the agitation and the part taken in it by Kalloch, finding that he has encouraged lawless and discontented element, advised them to parade streets, and endeavored to keep them in such a disposition and temperament as to commit outbreaks whenever it should suit his purposes; that he has impeached the honesty of the whole community, accused various branches of the City Government of corruption and derelection of duty and under pretense of counselling the mob against violence, insidiously advised them to be in readiness for bloodshed and the overthrow of the authorities. They recommend prompt action o be taken to vindicate the fair fame of the municipality by judicial inquiry in to Kalloch's case. A motion to adopt the report was put by Mayor Kalloch, who announced that by viva voce vote it was carried. The roll was then called, resulting in a unanimous vote for its adoption. A resolution was then adopted authorizing the financial Committee to cause judicial proceedings to be instituted against the Mayor for his removal from office and empowering them to employ counsel and prosecute the matter to speedy termination Throughout the reading of the report and resolution Kalloch appeared cool and unmoved, seeming to consider only the dignity of his position as presiding officer of the Board.

Official Report of the Democratic County Convention.

The Wake County Democratic Convention met at Metropolitan Hall at 12 o'clock M., Saturday, May 1st, 1880, and was called to order by Mr. George H. Snow, by request of the Caairman of the Democratic Executive Committee.

Capt. Oscar R. Rand, of Panther Branch township, was chosen chairman, and H. H. Roberts, of Raleigh, Secretary. The reporters of the city papers of Raleigh were invited to seats upon the stage and act as assistant secretaries.

Mr. Snow being recognized, stated the object of the meeting to be that of selecting delegates to the State and Congressional Conventions to nominate State and Congressional officers. At the same time Mr. Snow introduced the following resolution, and in a neat speech referred to the claims of Daniel G. Fowle, as candidate for Governor:

Resolved, That the Democrats of Wake county recommend their fellow-citizen, Daniel G. Fowle, as eminently fit and worthy in all respects to be nominated for the office of Governor. And the delegates from this county are hereby instructed to vote in the State Convention as a unit for him.

The resolution was put and the chair being unable to decide, a division of the subject matter of the resolution was called for by Capt. Coke, of Raleigh.

The question recurring upon a division of the resolution, it was, after full discussion, and upon a call of townships, lost by a vote of 5 for to 14 against.

The question recurring upon the adoption of the resolution as a whole was, upon the call of townships, adopted by a vote of 16 for to 2 against.

The New York Dog Show.

It has been finally decided to hold the fourth annual dog show, under the auspices of the Westminister Kennel Club, in the Madison Square Garden, on May 11, 12 and 13, it having been declared by experts amply safe for the purpose of exhibition. Notwithstanding the postponement, only one exhibition has withdrawn his entry, and it was an animal of little consequense. The three Bedlington terriers which Mr. Dalziel brought over, and which he intended to exhibit in the show, have been sent to their owner in Iowa, the gentleman named thinking it would not be proper to hold them so long. After they left a telegram was received from the owner authorizing Superintendant Lincoln to detain them. Their places have been filled by three dogs equally worth seeing. One is Rolf, a Danish bearhound, weighing 106 pounds, which is the grandson of Prince Bismarck's famous Satan. It is entered by the Baron Carl von Tena, who has only recently arrived from Germany. The Baron was offered and refused $1,500 for the animal in Chicago. Another is the dog Nero, 30 inches in height and weighing 155 pounds, which traveled with Barnum's show two years in charge of the elephants. He is a cross between a Siberian bloodhound and a St. Bernard. The third is an imported Russian terrier.

Sudden Death of a Millionaire.

W. L. Fox, an extensive oil producer aged 25 years, with a fortune of $3,000,000, died in a car near Clarion, Pa., last week. He was to be a witness in a murder trial at Clarion, and having forgotten a revolver which he was to produce and identify, had the train stopped and ran some distance to his residence and back. When he returned to the cars he was nearly exhausted from his exertion. He sat down in a seat and when the conductor, a few minutes afterwards, came to the seat to speak with Mr. Fox he was dead. Besides being president of the Foxburg, St. Petersburg and Clarion Railroad Company, he was at the head of several other extensive interests in the oil regions. His prosperity, without extraordinary development, was producing 12,000 barrels a month. He was the largest owner of private iron tankage in the oil regions, and the only producer owing an individual pipe-line of any magnitude. He was engaged in erecting an immense refinery on his property at the time of his death.

VANDERBILT will probably have to pay dearly for the accident which occurred last week at the Madison Avenue Garden, whereby a number of persons were killed and a large collection of valuable paintings damaged or destroyed. It seems that Vanderbilt not only owned the garden but actually drew the plan for it, which was so inherently bad that the building, although quite a new one, has twice fallen in. For this little place of meanness and parsimony, the president of the New York Central will have to pay over a large share of his recently purchased four per cents.

NEWS AND VIEWS FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

Presidential Speculation—The Outlook for Governor—Thos. H. Holt the Man for the Second Place.

Correspondence of the News.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 3.—We had a talk on the situation a few days since with one of the most prominent Democrats of this city, and as he is a representative man we give your readers a few of his opinions on the knotty question of the campaign of 1880:

He declared himself straight-out for Field for President, with some good man second, and for Scales and Holt at the head of our State ticket. In support of Field he said that gentleman must be acknowledged to be the most available man. He is not of his choice either on State or National ticket, but for the men most likely to make the best run and secure a Democratic victory. Tilden is out of the question. He does not believe he could carry New York, and then his bad health is a great hinderance, and there is such a strong prejudice against that gentleman in some sections of this country that he doubts if he carried New York whether he could carry the other Democratic and doubtful States. Bayard, he thinks, would be a most available man, provided Delaware was New York, or even one of the larger States, but as it was neither, he was afraid that gentleman could not lead the Democrats to victory, and although most of those he had conversed with were Bayard men he felt satisfied that the Democratic party would be too wise to place their standard in Mr. B.'s hands, Seymour, he thought, was undoubtedly one of the best men in the field, and that he had many things to recommend his nomination that the other candidates lacked, one of which was that he could carry New York; but that Mr. Seymour's ill health was such a draw-back, and it was so probable he would die before his term expired, that for this reason alone he doubted the expediency of his nomination, inasmuch as everybody would want to be second man, and perhaps a split in the party be the result of our placing that gentleman at the head of the ticket. But for a strong compromise man from a large State give him Field. He did not for a moment doubt but that gentleman could carry both New York and Indiana. That either of the States would much rather vote for a third party than a candidate from the other, and Mr. Field's record, character and ability, together with his constituency made him the strongest compromise man in the field. "But," said he, "the Democratic party has at last got its eyes open, and as there are many of our most prominent men, who understand the situation and needs of the present campaign a great deal better than I do, I have no fear but that the nominee of Cincinnati will be the most available man to be had, provided the people send such men to that Convention.

SCALES AND HOLT.

He is for Scales and Holt, he says, for many reasons. He thinks we will have to put out our strongest possible candidates to carry the State, that a bad nomination will undoubtedly cause a Republican victory; that the election of 1876 is no criterion to go by. We have not another Vance to put before the people in the first place, that Jarvis' having run in on that ticket is no assurance that he could run in first in 1880; that changing the time of election in this State did more for Democratic victory than either work or workers; that previously to 1876 Republican money had always been plentiful at our elections, but that year it was carried to other and larger pivotal States, but this year they are wider awake than ever, and that we must expect the fiercest political fight ever witnessed in North Carolina; that the election of Keogh to his present position on the Republican Committee means that they expect to carry this State, and will put forth utmost endeavors and all the cash possible to do so. He says that making a candidate's advocacy of the sale of the W. N. C. R. R. a reason for nomination is sheer madness; that the candidates must be put in the field simply and solely because they are strong men and will make a good run, and that the issue should be one between Democrats and Republican, untrammeled by any question likely to cause a split or array one section against another. That anyhow it is a little too soon to establish the precedent of making advocacy of sale a recommendation, as it remains to be seen how that will turn out; if it is a recommendation, why then all the highest political honors of this campaign would rightly belong to Col. Walter Clark, as his is the honor of being the "mud-cut" agitator, but that gentleman has not put himself forward as a candidate for Governor, and will add to the gratitude the State already owes him by supporting (this being the crisis year in the State and national politics) the strongest man, and the one most likely to secure a Democratic victory. That he is for Scales because he honestly believes him to be the standard bearer who could secure victory to our party; and that although, if everything was equal, that gentleman would not be his choice, still he must admit that he would be the most available candidate and sincerely hopes he will get the nomination. That everybody must admit that Col. Thos. M. Holt is the strongest candidate for second honor; that he is a man of great popularity all over our State; that he is identified with our State and its interest as much so as any citizen of North Carolina, being one of our wealthiest men; that he has proved himself one of the most liberal and public spirited men; that he and his money has kept the North Carolina State Agricultural Society from going under; that his record and ability is like Caesar's wife, "above suspicion;" that he is able to throw enough money in the campaign to counterbalance a great portion of the superfluous Republican cash and secure the election of the Democratic ticket; that all in all he is one of the strongest men in North Carolina, and whoever is put first, Scales, Jarvis, or Fowle, Col. Holt must and will occupy the second place and be our next Lieutenant Governor.

MINOR POLITICAL SCRAPS.

The Democratic Executive committee of this (the 6th) Congressional District met in this city on last Thursday and determined to hold the Convention for nominating a candidate for Congress at Rockingham on Wednesday the 9th day of June next.

Doubtless a great many of your readers do not reccollect that at our election in November next, amendments to two sections of the State Constitution will be voted upon.

The Observer has come out for Col. Holt for Lieutenant Governor. It is now a straight-out Seymour-English Jarvis-Holt sheet.

Walter P. Caldwell has been nominated in the Observer as a candidate for Attorney-General. His introducer gives him a splendid eulogy and a good send off.

We had a pleasant chat last Thursday with Maj. W. A. Graham of Lincoln county, who is a candidate for Congress from this district. He seemed confident and spoke in the most glowing terms of his prospects. The Major undoubtedly has an exceedingly strong backing in this section and if he does not get the nomination will give his opponent a very close shave.

The Rev. Dr. Teasdale who has been preaching in your city for Dr. Skinner, will fill the pulpit of Dr. Whitfield of Charlotte soon. He will stay two weeks, assisting Mr. Whitfield in conducting a revival.

The Charlotte District Conference will be held this year at Centre, Stanley county, embracing the Fourth Sunday in July. Rev. J. B. Bailey will preach the opening sermon.

Capt. Robt. D. Graham, of this city is absent at Beaufort on professional business. He will be there for a week or more. He spent a portion of last week in Dallas at Gaston Court.

The business of the Western Union Telegraph Co., seems to be increasing as they are erecting another line of wires over the Carolina Central Railway. The new line has reached as far west as Rockingham.

A comet or meteor was visible in our north-eastern heavens on the night of the 28th inst.

Mr. Samuel Nathan died in this city on April 29th from consumption. He was a worthy young man and his early death is greatly deplored.

Mr. A. T. Moss while out driving a few days since, met with a serious accident from a runaway horse. Both himself and the young lady with him were thrown out. Mr. Moss had his collarbone broken in addition to other slight bruises, but the young lady escaped with only a good shaking up.

Col. L. L. Polk, Commissioner of Agriculture was in this city on Saturday last.

The General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church will meet in Charleston on the 20th of May.

There was a Railroad picnic at Mooresville on the 1st inst, in interest of the extention of the Virginia Midland Railroad and of building the Taylorsville and Wadesboro, R. R.

The Directors of the North Carolina Railroad met in this city on Friday last. We noticed among those present, Thos. M. Holt, and Col. A. B. Andrews.

The Democrats nominated Capt. F. S. DeWolfe as their candidate for Mayor last Thursday night. The Republicans met Friday night but refused to nominate any regular candidate, though Dr. Wm. Sloan a Republican came out next day, and is generally considered to be the Republicans man. The election is going on to day and at 4 p. m. the Democratic candidate is considered safely ahead. A good deal of excitement on the streets, but nevertheless it is the quietest election Charlotte has had for years.

An English Opinion of Senator Bayard.

Pall Mall Gazette,

Mr. Bayard does not apparently seek the Presidency of the United States, but it is evident that he is willing to accept it if it comes to him. His views, therefore, are a matter of some concern. His vigorous assertion of the Monroe doctrine in connection with the Panama canal project initiated the recent demonstrations in his favor, and has won for him the sympathy of the patriotic party. He has established a more reasonable claim on public gratitude by his bold stand for honest money. He has thereby alienated support within his party, for the Greenbackers form no inconsiderable section of it. But, on the other hand, he has attracted to himself and to his party—so far as it identifies itself with him—a mass of respectable opinion which the reluctance of the average Congressman to deal with any question, however important, likely to "cause dissension," has offended, Mr. Tilden regards him as so formidable a rival that he has lately sought to prejudice his cause by drawing attention to a speech delivered by him in 1871. It is in tone similar to many speeches delivered about the same time by men—Mr. Tilden himself for instance—whose loyalty to the Union is undoubted. It is a plea for calmness and patience—a protest against rendering reunion hopeless by precipitating war against the seceding States. The publication has led to much discussion of the circumstances of the time, and opinion in the North is still so sensitive that Mr. Tilden's coup must be pronounced a success. But it has damaged Mr. Tilden himself with those who wish to see "war records" and "sectional issues" disappear from politics.

The number of pleasure and business travelers going to Europe this year is unusually large, and taxes to its full capacity the passenger accommodation of the popular lines of steamers. The tide of immigration, however, sets westward with a stronger flow, and brings to our shores people who intend to stay. The immigrants probably fetch more money with them than the pleasure-seekers will spend in Europe, thus keeping the financial situation on an even keel. Both the outward and the inward movement are indications of national prosperity.

POLAR EXPLROATIONS.

THE UNITED STATES EXPEDITION TO SAIL FOR THE NORTH POLE.

Fitting Out the Howgate Expedition Washington—Preparing the Gulgnare at Alexandria.

Special to the Baltimore Sun.

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 2.—It is expected that in a week from to-day the little steamer Gulgnare will be ready to come from the shipyard of the Alexandria (Va.) Marine Railway Company to Washington to receive her stores and crew for the United States expedition to the arctic regions, in furtherance of Capt. Howgate's plans of reaching the north pole. The shipyard at Alexandria is apparently the busiest place in that old town. Besides the Guignare, on the marine railway, the company has on the ways a large three-masted schooner, which is about half ready for launching.

The Gulgnare is a Clyde built iron frame propeller, 200 tons burden, 140 feet in length, 21 feet 6 inches breadth. The engine has two 30-inch cylinders, each 24 inches stroke, jet condensers, and one boiler. The engine is estimated to be of about 2 0-horse power. The works have been overhauled and put in complete order by Petitt & Dripps, machinists, Washington, D. C.

Originally the propeller was used on the coast of England, and, it is understood, was a blockade runner, captured during the late war. The vessel belongs to the United States government, and was turned over to the signal corps for polar service. It has been greatly strengthed by filling in 2½ inches oaken plank between the iron frames, sheathing inside and outside with stout oaken planks, so as to make the hull uniformly 15 inches thick. To guard effectually against the nip or pinch of the ice, which sometimes crushes in the sides of a vessel as an egg-shell, the inside of the hull has been braced with extra heavy white oak timbers placed horizontally, and from side to side in the various compartments of the ship, directly on the water line. Inside the prow three heavy white oak breast hooks nave been placed, and on the outside of the bow, over all, is a sheathing ¾ of an inch iron armor, extending 10 feet deep and 14 feet aft from the stern.

Capt. A. C. Chester, formerly of the Polaris expedition, who is an experienced and intelligent Arctic explorer, has superintedence of the work of fiting the Gulnare for service in frozen seas. He has placed on the sides of the vessel extending above the water line, wedge shaped oak timbers, which are calculated to ease the vessel upward when pressed by heavy ice. This is an idea resulting from the experience of the Polaris, which, when, caught in the pinch of the ice, was forced downward and crushed. A new main deck has been put on, the planks being bolted to the iron frame of the ship, and secured on the inside by nuts screwed to the bolts. A new smoke-stack and an extra propeller have been provided and amidships will be placed a new bridge 21 feet long.

As the Gulnare will be used primarily to found an arctic colony of observers, to be recruited by other explorers hereafter, one of the chief designs in preparing the vessel for service has been to secure all the storage room possible for provisions, material, instruments, arms and munitions. On the deck will be carried the frame work and other parts of a complete house sixty feet long by twenty feet wide, built on the plan of the house so long employed by the Hudson Bay company. This house has been put up temporarily in Washington on the vacant lot on Fourteenth street, near New York avenue. It is a complete double frame house, with 12 or 14 inches space between, so as to afford the protection of an inner wall of caloric. All the pieces are marked and numbered, and when taken apart may be stowed in a small space, and afterwords put together readily by the arctic colynists. Window frames and glass to give light, stoves for heating, lamps and other necessarries will be carried sufficient for a company of men at the poplar station, as well as for the ship's company on the voyage.

In the forward part of the Gulnare is the forecastle, or berit deck for the seamen. There are accommodations for 25 men in this part of the ship, but the quarters will be very close. Under the berth deck is a fresh water tank and storage room Between this compartment and the coal bunkers, near the engines, the hold is entirely given up for storing supplies. The engine, boiler and coal of course occupy the centre of the ship. Aft of these is the cabin, which is a neat and cosy little apartment, with state rooms on each side, with accommodations for 18 officers and scientists. In the hold beneath the cabin is room for storage. When completely fitted out the little vessel will be closely packed with material subsistence stores, and it is expected her complement of officers and crew will aggregate upward of 40 souls.

In addition to steam power the Gulgnare carries main and foremasts, which have been put in new, with new spars, cordage, &c. The rigger is J. W. Williams, 106 Thames street, Baltimore. Pollard & Padgett, sailmakers, Alexandria, Va., have made duplicate sets of new sails entire. The vessel is square rigged forward, square foresail, topsail and gallantsail, lug 4½ foresail; the main is schooner-rigged and gaff topsail. No pains or expenditure has been spared to insure the best outfit and the most serviceable material.

The station to be established in the Arctic region will be on the north side of Lady Franklin bay, in 81 deg. north latitude, near a coal deposit found by Nare's expedition. The landing party will be in charge of an officer of the United States army. The expedition will be commanded by United States navy officers, and the crew will be selected also from this branch of the public service. Capt. Howgate, whose idea is being put in practice, will remain here at the base of supply to look at the sinews of war and to direct operations in the advance on the heretofore sealed region of the north pole, which will be made with a steady and systematic persistency which must win in the end, and finally gain for our countrymen the renown of having overcome the frozen barriers with which nature has hemmed in this interesting and forbidden region.

When the men and material which the Gulgnare now carries out have been landed and their house has been put up and supplied this summer, the steamer will return to the temperate zone for more supplies and men to replace those who may have become disheartened or disabled. From the colony first planted expeditions will be sent out and a series of continuous advances made by planting camps further and further northward, until at last the main object is attained. But the glory of reaching the north pole over all obstacles, and over all other peoples who have striven for many years in this fascinating adventure, is not alone the object of the Howgate expedition. There are other and higher aims in the interests of science and knowledge, the fruition of which will be developed in the future of that intelligent corps of public servants, whose ceaseless watch and scientific industry already enable us to protect some of the most important pursuits of life, as well as the individual health and comforts. While the struggle to advance further and further over the frozen steppes and icebergs of the north will never cease, the time consumed will not be lost otherwise. Each day will have its duties peculiar to the region, in the fight to live as well as in the observation and record of natural phenomena, and in practical siege of the north pole, which is to be instituted in this system of steady and gradual approaches.

Various theories have animated discovers and prompted reserch in the Arctic zone in our time, but it may be claimed for this American expedition that it has a more practical basis than any other which has preceeded it. Sir John Franklin set out to demonstrate the theory of a northwest passage; humanity and the devoting of Lady Franklin prompted various search expedition after Franklin, among them the Grinnell and Kane expeditions in this country. Kane in his charming book, fired the imaginations of the youths of his day: who are the active men of the present, and though the open polar sea which one of his adventurous crew discovered has receded further and further north, as expedition after expedition has advanced beyond the tracks his party left in the frozen snow, the fascination enkindled by his experience and narration remains. Now that the signal service in England and on the continent of Europe, as well as in America, has spread its agencies and observers over so large a part of the habitable globe, and as so many changes that affect us are due to natural phenomean at the poles, exploration and observations there have become actually necessary. There are theories based on partial knowledge, but all theories seem to fail of realization when tested by experience in the Arctic region. What is necessary is absolutely certain data. Desultory expeditions have added somewhat to the facts, but the accumulation has been slow and and necessarily mixed with theory, so that in this day it is fully realized that the data desired can be obtained only by the systematic application of the resources which this age is unable to bring to bear in overcoming the natural obstacles in the path. This is the animating spirit of the American idea. It is the practical one, and that it will ultimately prove successful no one who has faith in American grit will doubt.

The officers and savans to carry out these plans have not yet been officially designated, though it is understood the personnella has been pretty well outlined in official quarters.—The date of sailing from Washington City will be regulated by the expedition used in fitting and equipping the ship. These are so well advanced that it is quite possible the Gulnare will be ready to leave the marine railway in four or five days, and by the end of May will be able to steam down the Potomac on her way to the north.

ALL AROUND US.

WHAT THE PEOPLE SAY, AND HOW THEY SAY IT.

The Weather, Trade, Crops and Various other Matters Treated Upon.

GRANVILLE.

WILTON, April 28.—Hail again Sunday and weather cool and getting a little too dry for the best of wheat.

Trade is reasonably lively, with spring goods for the attraction.

Died last Saturday in Dutchville Township, James Dalby Esq.; in Brassfields Township, Mrs. G. M. Davis.

As the delegates to the County and State Conventions have been appointed township meetings will soon be the order of the day.

A young gent married last fall. Not long since his wife presented him with a shirt that she had spun and wove, and he was so proud of it that he showed it to his "dad," and the old man in his ecstacies over the handiwork of his son's wife, jumped on his mule and rode about five miles at full speed with his hat in his hand shouting with every breath, "Pattie has spun and wove Philip a shirt."

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Kinsey, of Tuckahoe, Lenoir county, are visiting their son-in-law, Mr. G. M. Bragg.

Atobacco drummer left Granville last Thursday, and on his arrival at Franklinton he went into a store to drum up some trade, when unluckily for him the merchant was an old creditor and requested him to make immediate settlement. He declared that he had no money, but finally pulled out $4,50 and offered it to his creditor, declaring it was all he had and burst into a big boo-hoo, shedding crocadile tears of wonderful size. So say the boys who witnessed the unusual sight of a drummer in tears.

J. W. WALKER.

FRANKLIN.

FANKLINTON, April, 29—Weather cool with crops looking well. Planting corn and cotton is the order of the day.

Trade is good for the season, with fertilizers perhaps more in demand than at any corresponding time of the year. We may reasonably expect a wail from the cotton growers next fall.

Tuesday of last Gabriel Edwards' infrnt son died.

About the 12th, Mr. Norman Long lost two souvenirs, by the deftv hands of a thief, in the shape of a double eagle and a silver half-dollar. The twenty dollar gold piece was obtained of James Harvill of Surry county, Va., in 1859 and bears the same date. Mr. Long gave it to his wife on their wedding day, remarking "keep this until necessity forces you to spend it." The half dollar was toyed with by his first child and has a diamond hole through it, punched by Shim Cooke twenty years ago. He says he could pick it from among a hundred pieces with holes in them. They were taken from his wife's trunk.

Last Thursday Mr. Samuel had to wade ashore from the middle of William's mill pond. Out fishing and unluckily slid from the boat to the water. This was unpleasant and unlucky for Sam but he is over it now.

We learn there will be a pic-nic at William's mill next Monday. So we say to you in time, "beware of the pond boys, beware!"

Col. J. Uzzle was in town last Thursday.

A trio of gentlemen went fishing in Crooked Creek on Thursday last and had exceedingly good luck, at least three hundred of the finny tribe swung in the air by their lusty pulls. The Gulliver of the occasion succeeded for a while to ennui and coup de soleil and reclined himself beneath a shady bank.

GUILFORD.

GREENSBORO: May 3.—The weather has been quite cool for several days. Indeed we had frost last week, but I heare of no damage.

It is whispered that we are to have two marriages, both in the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches soon,

The municipal election took place to-day. Two tickets were in the field, but the old board of commissioners and the mayor were elected, of course. No excitement and not much effort on either side.

Mr. Thos. K. Cree, Traveling Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of America has been here and enlivened up the work of the Association here in Greensboro and vicinity.

Yesterday Old Buffalo Presbyterian Church held its quarterly communion, a very large assemblage present. Rev. J. C. Alexander has been the pastor for nineteen years. This is one of the oldest churches in the country. An old frame house of long standing gave way to a splendid brick edifice over fifty years ago. The old cemetary, a very large one holds the remains of many hundreds, many of whome were some of the old settlers of North Carolina.

The Methodist Sunday School will have an excursion to Charlotte, where they will picnic on Friday next.

The market is verly poorly supplied, and prices high, and all say this is the hardest part of the year to live.

FRANKLINTON, N. C., April 29.—Mrs. Martha Smith of Chatham reports a remarkable case of suspended animation, burial and resurrection in the person of a married lady of that county who possessed a gold watch and finger rings which she often expressed a desire to have buried with her whenever she was dead. Finally she was taken ill and life seemed to gradually ebb away until her attending physician pronounced life extinct. At her burial her previously expressed desires were complied with, and on the second night after her interment, a white man and negro went to the grave and exhumed her for the purpose of obtaining her jewelry. As they took the lid off the coffin and the darkey began pulling off a ring from her finger she raised up. At this both men took fright and ran away. Finally the negro went back and she asked him what he wanted. He told her he wanted her rings and the white man wanted her watch. She requested to see the white man whom the darkey soon found and brought to her. She requested him to go home with her, he done so, and when she reached the door she knocked. Her husband opened the door but fainted when he saw her, thinking it was his dead wife's ghost. Mrs. Smith says the body is now living and bids fair to attain a good old age, and that she visits and is visited by her frequently.

DAILY NEWS

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5, 1880.

GEO. C JORDAN. Editor and Propr.

THE most democratic legislative body in Europe is said to be the Norwegian Assembly, or Storthing. It consists of one house only, elected by universal suffrage. Some years ago the Ministers of State asked for seats in the Storthing, but were refused this right by that body. The Storthing, however, has seen fit to change its mind since, and now wants the ministers present, so that it can always cross-question them. The ministers, on their part, are reluctant to take the seats proffered them, and are backed up in their refusal by the King. The Storthing is equally determined, and a regular political crisis has ensued in Norway between the King and the Legislature. The latter refuses to take action on any matter whatever until its orders are obeyed. The probabilities, therefore, are that the King will have to surrender, unpleasant as it is to do.

A proposition is being urged upon Congress to abolish many of the ports of entry now existence and establish others in interior cities of the country. Indianapolis clamors to be made such a port, and other inland cities are desirous of enjoying the facilities which would be afforded by such action of the government. The argument used is that the present system, established in 1792, will not do for the present day; that many of the old ports are useless and serve only as costly monuments of the folly of continuing them; that the money that might be saved in this way could be expended in the creation of the inland ports, and that the necessities and conveniences of commerce demand that such ports shall be created. Secretary Sherman favors the plan, but it is doubtful if it will secure the sanction of Congress. It would probably result in the multiplicity of custom-houses, as it is not likely that any Congressmen would favor the abolishment of any of the present ports of entry, in his own district at least.

OUR EXPORT TRADE.

The remarkable trade growth in the export of American products during the last few years cannot fail the attention of the world and stimulate American pride. From a statement just issued by the Treasury Department it is learned that the total value of domestic breadstuffs exported for the nine months ending March, 1880, amounted to $182,632,226, which is an increase of $50,599,696 over that of last year. The wheat exports alone amounted to 99,131,922 bushels, which is more than the amount of this cereal exported from all the Europeans ports put together, That the exportation of wheat during the coming months will be as great as it has been is doubtful, owing to the fact that other wheat producing countries, such as Russia, Roumania and Egypt are reported to have remarkably heavy crops, and hence there is a likelihood that the exportation of American wheat will be some what checked But while the quantities of our breadstuff exports to Great Britain and elsewhere are increasing, the trade in live and fresh meat is being extended beyond comparison, and it is safe to state that the whole of England is to a great extent dependent for supplies of animal food upon our Western cattle and sheep raising regions. As stated in a paragraph yesterday, the great facilities for transportations of fresh meat, and the comparatively low prices at which American dealers can place it on the English markets enable even the poorest classes to indulge in it more liberally than before. The proper development of commercial intercourse with the South American countries will give us still greater outlets for our vast and varied products and very materially lessen the cost of many essential articles of import, which at present we are compelled to receive in a roundabout manner.

Cuticura REMEDIES

ave Achieved the most noted success of any Medicines of Modern Times.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter have never doubted the specific properties of Cuticura, Cuticura Resolvent, and Cuticura Soap, for the speedy, permanent, and economical cure of Humors of the Blood, Skin and Scalp. They are, however, astonished at their universal success; for it was to be expected that in the hands of some they would fail solely from spasmodic or ignorant use of them.

They are enabled to say without fear of contradiction that no remedies ever achieved in the short space of one year the number of wonderful cures performed by the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

SALT RAHUM,

Covering the Body for Ten Years, Permanently Cured.

LAW OFFICE OF CHAS. HOUGHTON, 17 Congress Street, Boston, Feb. 28, 1878.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I feel it a duty to inform you, and through you all who are interested to know the fact, that a most disagreeable and obstinate case Salt Rheum or Eczema, which has been under my personal observation from its first appearance to the present time,—about ten (10) years,—covering the greater portion of the patient's body, and limbs with its peculiar irritating and itching scab, and to which all the known methods of treating such disease have been applied without benefit, has completely disappeared, leaving a clean and healthy skin, under a few days of profuse application of CUTICURA.

I can and do heartily advise all similarly afflicted to try the remedy which has been so effectual in this case.

Very truly yours,
CHAS. HOUGHTON.

Liver Complaint.

And Dyspepsia Treated by the Resolvent, Gains 5 1-2 pounds on One Bottle.

GENTLEMEN,—I have had Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, with running sores on the side of my neck, for ten years. Doctors did no good. I have been spending for eight years and it did me no good. Everything I ate distressed me. I got reduced from 170 to 132 pounds. At last I tried the RESOLVENT and it helped me right off, and on one bottle I gained five and one-half pounds. It is doing the business, and I am going for it strong. Yours truly,

JOHN H. ROY.
414 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., Nov. 15, 1878.

NOTE.—Cuticura is admirable assisted in cases of extreme physical weakness, or when the virus of scrofula is known to lurk in the system, by the internal use of the Cuticura Resolvent, without doubt the most powerful blood purifier and liver stimulant in the world.

Cuticura Soap is an elegant toilet and medicinal assistant to Cuticura in the treatment of all external ailments, for chapped hands, rough skin and tan, sunburn, and the lesser skin troubles, it is indispensable; as a soap for the toilet, the nursery and bath it is the most elegant, refreshing, and healing before the public.

These great remedies succeed where all others heretofore in use fail because they possess new and original properties never before successfully combined in medicine.

The Cuticura Remedies are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, Boston, and sold by all Druggists. Price of Cuticura, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes, containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. Resolvent, $1 per bottle. Cuticura Soap, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; 3 cakes, 75 cents.

——Our chief has gone up to Haw River—not salt, however—and the readers of the NEWS will please pardon all shortcomings of ye locum tenens.

——The Assistant Marshals are requsted to meet at the store of C. D. Heartt, this p m at 8 o'clock. to make the arr angements for Memorial day on the 10 th of May,

——From private sources we learn that Rev. Dr. Teasdale, who met with so much success as a revivalist in this city is reaping a fine harvest in his good work in Durham, where he is now laboring s veral have made a profession of religion and more than twenty have requested prayer.

——A young man stood on the porch one eve, when all was hushed and still, save the pattering rain-drops as they fell, upon the front-door sill. He went to see his lady-love, his lady had gone to bed, and he got wet as a drowned rat, and never a word he said,—except a few "cuss words" as he cleared the bounds of the gate. Now, Dossy, this is a "phact," and Raleigh challenges Tarboro for a better specimen of heroic patience!

Died.

In Baltimore, on the morning of the 23d inst. R. B. Sherwood, Esq. formerly of Warrenton and Raleigh, but for the last two years a citizen of Baltimore.

His funeral will take place from the Salisbury St. Baptist church, on Thursday (to-morrow) morning, at 10 o'clock.

Large Turtle.

We saw in a wagon yesterday, a marine specimen (chelonia imbricata) of the hawk-bill sea turtle. It was the property of Capt. A. B. Andrews, and was shipped to him from Beaufort. The flesh of this animal is esteemed a great dish among epicures, and their eggs highly prized by the natives of the coast, who eat them with unsurpassed relish. We did not ascertain its weight, but it was a "terrapin" of no mean pretensions, and withal, the first we have seen this season.

"Ho, for Carolina, in the Month of May!"

The poet who wrote that erst popular song, which was sung by the fairest singers of our Sunny South during war times, did not make any calculation for this present month. The song suggests gentle zephyrs laden with the fragrance of the honeysuckle and geranium, vegetation luxuriant, and—and summer clothing, consisting chiefly of a paper collar and cravat; but, presto! behold us now. Yesterday seemed as if the seasons, commencing with January, February and March, had turned the tables, and set in backwards, thereby plunging us into the lap of midwinter, making us don our overcoats with a shudder. May, so far, is a misnomer. The frosts of February and the cold rains of April have taken possession, and May, mild, etherial May, is not yet. May this thing cease, or a famine will be th result, for ye local's pea-patch is "what he casts his hopes upon."

Too Crowded.

The store of Messrs. R. B. Andrews & Co., clothiers and hatters, is too small to contain their immense stock properly, but soon they will occupy their handsome new addition, and then they will display their goods to advantage.

Harness and Saddlery Emporium.

Messrs. E. F. Wyatt & Son, Martin street, one door east of Dodd's corner, keep constantly on hand a very large and varied stock of harness and saddlery, embracing everything usually found in a first-class establishment, which they offer at low prices. They have had experience in the business, work the best material, and employ only first-class workmen.

The Baptist Church of Oberlin.

Correspondence of the News.

On Sunday last a very interesting baptismal service took place at McKee's Pond near the above village, when the sacred rite was administered to twelve candidates. The weather was very favorable and a large concourse of people assembled to witness the ceremony. The Rev. J. H. Maybery, the pastor officiated, and every thing passed off in a solemn and satisfactory manner. At the conclusion an address to the new converts was delivered by Mr. Maybery, consisting of exhortation, advices, and caution, respecting the obligations they had just taken upon themselves before the church and the world. An adjournment ment then took place to the church where the right-hand of fellowship was given to the newly baptised, after which the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered. A liberal collection in support of the recent extensive improvements in the church building was then taken up by Deacons Rand and Collins. A financial statement of the receipts and disbursements in connection with the church up to the present time was then read by Deacon Rand and approved,

We are glad to learn the good people of Oberlin are now invited to the worship of God by the sound of "the church going bell," that being one of the recent improvements at the Baptist church.

The Sabbath School in association with this church, under the superintendency of Messrs. Rand and Lewis Smith, is in a flouring and healthy condition.
